Preliminary Note: Applicant's proposed amendment of 8/3/01 overcomes all previous grounds of rejection and thus has been approved for entry. However, new grounds of rejection are applied with this action. Accordingly, this office action shall not be made final. Requests for interviews to advance prosecution shall continue to be granted.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Cooper et al. ('478).

Reference is made specifically to column 1, lines 31-42 of Cooper et al. Methods for stopping smoking are described. The first method is hypnosis. The second method is negative conditioning, which reads as an educational program for the conscious mind, and which provides conscious techniques to stop smoking. The third method is the ingestion of lobeline, which is equivalent to the claimed Lobelia. Line 41 states that these methods may be used in combination.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cooper et al. ('478).

Claim 11 differs from Cooper et al. in that it does not disclose a specific means for delivering hypnosis or educational material. However, Examiner takes Official Notice that it is well known in the art to provide therapeutic information through the use of audio tapes, CDs or through the Internet. Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify Cooper et al. ('478) to deliver the hypnosis therapy or educational material by the use of audio tapes, CDs or through the Internet, as is well known in the art.
